Subject: For Review: NSCAI WG1 draft agenda for May 8

Dr. Schmidt and Dr. Horvitz,

I hope this finds you well! Following identification of a date and time for the working group's first meeting on May 8th, we've built out a draft agenda along the lines of the concept previously shared, albeit scaled down to fit within the two hour time slot we have.

Dr. Moore has had the opportunity to review, and I've attached it here for your additional feedback. We are ready and available to connect for a quick phone call in the coming days to discuss in greater detail, should you be interested to do so.

You'll see that we've set up the afternoon to open with a brief scene setter capturing the broad trends in US/China/Europe AI research landscapes from the authors of the AI Index (specific briefer TBD). We've asked them to also draw out the implications of these trends for US policy and highlight where there are deficiencies in data that, if addressed, could improve decision-making and prioritization. This snapshot will be followed by a presentation on the US academic community's proposed response to this landscape: the 20-year AI Research Roadmap for the U.S. developed by CRA Computing Community Consortium and AAAI. We would then close this portion of the agenda with a discussion with both briefers.

The second section of the agenda will focus specifically on DoD investment in AI research and development, featuring analysis from a private sector firm, Govini, who has done some compelling data analysis around how much, in which issue areas and with who the DoD has focused its investments in AI.

Finally, we'll close with executive time to discuss the issues you would like to bring to the plenary session on May 20, the hard questions identified from the afternoon's briefings to take forward for further assessment, and a framework around which to organize the working group's efforts going forward.

Again, we stand ready to arrange a call to talk through any of the above at your convenience or refine further via email collaboration.

Respectfully,

Mr. Horvitz,

We are in the last stages of preparations for the plenary meeting of all Commissioners on May 20th (next Monday). In order to proceed with your access to the meetings, we need to finish your on-boarding paper. Can you please put us in touch with someone that can help with this issue? We need to formally bring you and your clearance on board as part of the Congressional requirement.

I thank you in advance for any help you can provide in this matter.

Eric,

The OF-306 you completed will work. For the SF-144, you are only required to list periods of federal service that would count toward length of service and other payroll types of actions. You are not required to list any unpaid/voluntary service on boards and commissions as well. If you could provide the federal board and commissions on which you currently serve, it would help us as we need to ensure that you do not exceed the total service time limitations on consultants (generally 130 days per year).

Please let me know if you have additional questions.

If you could also provide a copy of your passport, we should be able to complete the remainder of the forms necessary to initiate the HR process and acquire your clearance.

Thank you,

Eric,

The OF-306 you completed will work. For the SF-144, you are only required to list periods of federal service that would count toward length of service and other payroll types of actions. You are not required to list any unpaid/voluntary service on boards and commissions as well. If you could provide the federal board and commissions on which you currently serve, it would help us as we need to ensure that you do not exceed the total service time limitations on consultants (generally 130 days per year).

Please let me know if you have additional questions.

If you could also provide a copy of your passport, we should be able to compete the remainder of the forms necessary to initiate the HR process and acquire your clearance.

Thank you,
Mike

Mr. Horvitz,

We are in the last stages of preparations for the plenary meeting of all Commissioners on May 20th (next Monday). In order to proceed with your access to the meetings, we need to finish your on-boarding paper. Can you please put us in touch with someone that can help with this issue? We need to formally bring you and your clearance on board as part of the Congressional requirement.

I thank you in advance for any help you can provide in this matter.

Dear Commissioners,

Below is an update across all of our efforts prepared by (b)(6) (Commission Staff), including:

1. Chair and Vice Chair Congressional Briefing
2. Working Group / Special Project Updates
3. Plenary Information
4. Outreach and Engagement
5. Personnel Update

IMPORTANT: We look forward to seeing you all on July 11th in Cupertino, CA for our next plenary. Materials will be send no later than Monday COB.

1—Chair and Vice Chair Congressional Briefing

Dr. Schmidt and Mr. Work held very successful briefings with House and Senate staff on June 28. The briefings were organized on bipartisan basis by the leadership offices in each chamber. Turnout was impressively high. Staff showed strong interest in the Commission's work and raised important issues and questions.

Talking points drafted for the briefing are attached here.

2—Working Group / Special Project Updates

WG1 – Maintaining Global Leadership in AI Research (Moore, Schmidt, Horvitz)

Status: The group held its second meeting on June 28 at the Pentagon (b) (5)

Summary of discussion is being finalized and will be sends out shortly.

WG2 – Maintaining Global Leadership in AI National Security Applications (Catz, Ford, McFarland, Jassy, Chien)

Status: Staff members are conducting engagements with DoD and IC organizations to

(b) (5)

During the next two months, staff will visit some of the most prominent labs and research centers to conduct an analysis for the Commissioners based on the last meeting due outs.

WG3 – Preparing Our Citizens for an AI Future (Griffiths, Work, Mark, Clyburn)

Status: The group continued to engage with DoD, the IC, and other parts of government.

(b) (5)

The group will continue to solicit input and study hiring practices, and begin to plan the next WG meeting. The staff is also working on the due outs from the last working group.

WG4 – International Competitiveness and Cooperation in AI (Matheny, Darby, Louie)

Status: The group held its second meeting on June 20, focused on cooperation with allies and partners. (b) (5)

(Link to summary of discussion here)

Special Project / Partnerships – Special Project staff will visit the Naval Surface Warfare Center Crane, in Indiana, on July 8. (b) (5)

(Draft agenda available here)

Special Project / Ethics – (b) (5)

Special Project / Data – The Special Project continues to invite Commissioners' input and suggestions on projects, organizations, or experts who might offer relevant insights and experiences. Some initial ideas based on WG4 meeting with the allies are emerging.

3—Plenary Information

The next plenary meeting is scheduled for July 11 in Cupertino, CA (same location as the May meeting). We are coordinating with your staffs on details.

4—Outreach and Engagement

In the past few weeks, NSCAI staff members have engaged with the Joint AI Center, Air Force Research Lab, Army AI Task Force, DARPA, Johns Hopkins Applied Physics Lab, NGA, Yale Law School, CNAS, CNA, Univ. of Chicago, Joint Staff, Ethical Intelligence, RAND, DOE, DIB, Georgetown CSET, Carnegie Mellon SEI . . . and many others.

We are tracking staff engagements in a spreadsheet linked here. So far, we have conducted more than 80 engagements with experts from academia, private sector, think tank, etc.

5—Personnel Update

We have welcomed two new staff members:

-- Michael Lueptow has joined from the Senate Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs Committee to serve as General Counsel to the Commission.

-- (b) (6) has joined from Georgetown University to serve on the Research and Analysis Team, with a focus on supporting Working Group 4.

Please let us know if you have any questions or need more info.

See you next week.

Dr. Horvitz,

A quick note to follow up with the July 23rd NSCAI Status Update regarding the Special Project on AI Data. As you know "data" is a critical cross-cutting topic particularly driving research and operational applications. Your shaping input would be of great benefit to this project, and your participation is greatly welcomed in any role or capacity.

The objective of this special project is to identify strategic opportunities to address AI data and infrastructure needs and challenges to maintain US global leadership and strengthen US national security and defense. With a proposed approach to assess the AI data landscape and develop recommendations to accelerate AI technology innovation to address national security and defense needs. This includes attention to:

1. AI data and infrastructure to advance AI research (WG1)
2. AI data and infrastructure to promote AI operational application (WG2)
3. AI data for workforce development and training (WG3)

4. AI data sharing among allies to maintain competitive advantage over adversaries (WG4)

Would you have interest and availability to provide the project team leading advisement and support?
Might you have availability to participate (in-person or remotely) in the one-day workshop we are planning in DC – looking at tentatively September 17, 18, or 19?

Thank you for your leadership to the Commission and for any consideration.

Warmly,

Subject: Upcoming NSCAI Staff Trip to Seattle

Dear Dr. Horvitz,

I hope your summer is going well! As part of the Commission's assessment phase, the NSCAI staff is conducting fact-finding trips nationwide to meet with relevant stakeholders to inform research for the November report. In September (11-13) our team is planning a stop in Seattle, where there are many relevant institutions and companies we would like to meet.

We would like to start our visit to Seattle by meeting with you to provide an update on working group 1 and broader commission efforts. If feasible, we'd also be eager to visit with some of your team at Microsoft Research, to talk through issues related to Microsoft's AI research as well as discuss ethics and its integration into research and application processes.

The overarching goal of the trip is to meet with experts in the field in order to learn from those driving the cutting edge of AI research in order to inform our assessment of the AI ecosystem in the U.S. and eventual recommendations across the Commission's working groups. This will follow a similar trip to Boston in late August.

I've included below the internal guiding research questions we've developed to focus our engagements, as well as a prioritized list for outreach. Given this is your backyard, we'd warmly welcome any recommendations as to specific organizations/researchers we should seek to engage. In addition, where appropriate, we'd welcome any connections you could make to facilitate coordination of conversations.

Many thanks in advance for your attention on this effort.

Respectfully,
