Hi [Name],

I'm attaching the revised responses to Conditions & Assumptions for [Task]—incorporating the updates we made together on 8/31/10. The handful of updates are in Blue colored text. I should have the award documentation to you for [Task] in the next few hours.

Regarding your response to my e-mail yesterday—I don't understand your response. Should I anticipate a revised quote for pricing for these units so I can incorporate into the contract?

Thanks for your help,

Hi Folks:

Please find attached the promised white paper regarding potential Task. We have included non-budgetary ROMs for these and have estimated them as standalone tasks (i.e. no assumption that any will be awarded in parallel with each other or with the existing baseline). Should there be parallel efforts we will likely have economies of scale from overlaps in common elements (PM, QA, CM, etc.). We would like to arrange a telecon next week at your convenience to discuss these and how you would like to proceed from here.

Have a great weekend,

Yes please. Thanks for making this ecp possible.

OK...so they're meeting us ½ way on some of the items.

These changes should supposedly bring the costs down to below

They won't re-run the numbers for us – so I'll try to come up with a revised copy later today. Sounds like they'll get it under. Assuming once I rerun the #s, the cost estimate will be under how would you like me to proceed?

Hi

We can't do anything about the It's work on the contract and we have to charge it. We can committed to providing you this capability.

Please provide an NTE of approximately to get started. Once we receive this we will begin work. We will update the proposal after we received the NTE, this way we will not incur any additional proposal prep costs.
