01-Jan-2004	678146	General Contact Information	Concerns w/ Harrisburg, PA	Customer says: I am writing this note out of genuine concern over something that happened to me at the Harrisburg, PA airport on December 19, 2003. I understand that the TSA has a difficult job to do and also that TSA has been trying to present a positive and friendly image to airport patrons, but the crew at the Harrisburg airport are not getting the message. I travel for my business every week to some city other than where I live and have never been treated as poorly as I was in Harrisburg that day. It makes it very difficult for frequent flyers when the TSA staff is rude, obnoxious and extremely inconsiderate. The statements made by the crew were very contrite and abusive. I was chosen as a selectee. At one point when I told the crew member checking my computer bag that a little equipment pocket does not come out of the computer bag, another crew member said to me in a very beligerent manner, "WHAT did you say?" I was simply trying to be helpful and also to prevent him from ripping the pocket out of $400 computer bag.

Subject: RE: [REDACTED] Complaint

Tane,

b6

I'm sending this e-mail to summarize our efforts to respond to a complaint made by Dr. [REDACTED] regarding TSA security screening of her magnetic breast implants.

In this case, Dr. [REDACTED] appeared to resent the fact that she had been identified as a Selectee and therefore subject to secondary screening. Ms. [REDACTED] presumes that her frequent flyer status should exempt her from secondary screening.

b6

TSA screeners maintained their composure and focus on ensuring Dr. [REDACTED] was treated with respect/dignity, even when she escalated the situation by using profanity and wishing cancer upon them. The actions taken by TSA to resolve the alarms were within the scope of policy guidance specific to Dr. [REDACTED] medical devices and within the standards of human decency.

b6

Enclosed is a drafted proposed response to use in responding to Ms. [REDACTED] complaint, but because of the sensitive issues raised, all pertinent information including incident reports from the screening personnel involved is being forwarded to you via Fed-x.

b6

If I may be of further assistance, please don't hesitate to call me at 207-541-0009.

Regards,

Janine Hodel

04-Feb-2004	716606	General Contact Information	Consumer is military and has problems with screening.	2-5-04-Per my previous notes, I received an email back from the csm at SYR airport named Semper Fodelis and also spoke to Simone. [REDACTED] and this problem is being worked out not with the airlines. Mr. [REDACTED] should address this problem with the airlines. TSA SYR is required to screen [REDACTED] Toscha L. Horton
09-Feb-2004	720666	General Contact Information	wanted to know if he was going to be stopped b/c of his warrant for his arrest	Told him to get info. from his Lawyer stating that he did have a Court date and that why he was traveling. He stated that he spoke to his Lawyer and that he stated that he was not wanted for a Felony and that he should not have any problems. I stated to him that he should take that letter and arrive early to the airport in case he is pulled to the side for secondary screening. He asked about the no fly list and asked if he would be arrested at the airport. I stated to him that with him being wanted no matter what the crime is he will be stopped and turned over to authorities and he stated that he did not do a serious crime. I told him to try.

26-Feb-2004	738842	General Contact Information	consumer insisted that he was on the no-fly list	As Beth stated that when I attempted to assist the consumer but he told me to shut up. I let the consumer finish and advised the consumer of the TSA policy. He wanted a number to the office of the Ombudsman but I advised him that it needed to happen to him on another airline and it needed to happen more than just the 2 times that he initially stated. He was upset and irate but then he was calm and stated that he will call back and wanted all of his information to be in the system so that he does not have to go through this again. Simone 2/26/04
				Consumer stated to me that it had only happened 2 times, on his initial flight and on his return flight. When I advised him of tsa policy and procedure of the no fly list he insisted that he was on it. I advised him that in the event that he was on the list then he would not be able to [REDACTED] Consumer became upset b/c I would not provide him with a public number that he could call. He then asked to speak to a supervisor. Consumer spoke to Simone and when she was explaining the procedure to him he told her to shut up. Simone explained the procedure to consumer and advised him of the CAPPs program as well. Mr. [REDACTED] then said that it had happened 3 times and by the end of the conversation he had raised the number to 4 times. When I initially made contact with him I asked how many times it had occurred and he stated that it had only occurred twice.	1520.5(b)(9)(i)

16-Mar-2004	763892	Discourteous/Unprofessional Treatment	Consumer called to file complaint against screeners at FLL airport	Consumer was traveling from FII to LGA on Sunday 3-14-04. When he approached security checkpoint the screeners on duty we laughing and joking. They observed him and started asking him questions. When they asked him if he had any guns or ammo with him that he needed to declare, he jokingly stated" yeah, I have a bazooka" and then started to laugh. The screener then said something to his partner and then the security supervisor came over and asked him to repeat what he just said, he told the supervisor what he said, and that he was only joking and the supervisor said ok and walked away saying hold on a minute. The supervisor was gone for quite some time. When the consumer asked what was going on, the airport police officer approached him and stated that he was in a lot of trouble and that he wasn't flying anywhere today and that there was a "NoTolerance rule and he could be fined and the FBI could be called. He couldn't believe what he was hearing and invited them to search his bags and his person which he did 3 times. He was asked a lot of questions and after 2 hours during which he was threatened that he would be receiving a letter and fine in the mail and that if he did not pay it he would be black listed against flying and he could lose his home . The consumer then threatened to file suit against them and the airport and they became very nervous and started talking amongst themselves. They finally told him he could go, but that he could never fly on Spirit again and that he had to take another carrier home. He missed his flight and had to call friends and family to get another ticket to get home. He stated that they are like little kids with a gun

27-Mar-2004	778062	Inconsistent Screening	Alleged Harrassment @ BMI	Customer says: On Sunday, March 14, I was taking United flight 5828 from Bloomington, IL to O'Hare airport. I was a selectee for additional screening and requested to have a female officer screen me and to personally witness my bags being searched. The officers were very accommodating with these requests. The officer searching my bags, Aaron was very professional and helpful. However, during the time that he was searching, another officer, Jim (Smith, I heard someone say), a much older gentleman, came over, stood next to me and began to point past me with his security wand. The wand was about 4 inches from my face. I wear glasses and the wand came dangerously close to hitting my face and glasses. Jim then put an airline ticket and a ticket envelope on the counter. Aaron told me that I was finished, so I began to gather up my coat, pocketbook, carry on bag, passport etc. I asked if I could have my ticket. Aaron handed it to me. I then asked for the ticket folder. At this point, Jim (who remained standing there) said in a nasty tone "That's not yours; it belongs to that lady there" and pointed to the lady next to me, again using his wand and putting it right in my face. He also said to me at this time "You're impeding the line. Move on" I was still getting everything together, so I said "I'm getting everything together and I'd appreciate it if you did not put that wand in my face". Aaron also spoke up and told Jim that I was not holding up the line. At this point, Jim got a little louder, told me again that I was "impeding the line", picked up my carry on bag and jacket and threw them across the floor, approximately 6 feet away. He then grabbed my arm and told me to move. I

				pulled my arm away, became very angry and told Jim in a loud voice to get away from me, to not touch my items and that if he touched me again I would file assault charges.

Thank you for the response. I was able to fly without difficulty but was subject to much additional screening. I do not have a problem with the screening or the extra security but what can I do to streamline the process?

Should I notify TSA in advance of my travel? I can bring my passport (US) on each travel trip including CONUS to better identify myself, if helpful.

Until I am eventually cleared, I will cooperate without any exceptions. I am a loyal US citizen by birth, by choice, and not anything but loyal.

Subject: Re: Selectee List Removal

Thank you for your email message.

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) had in place for a number of years security directives that prohibited aircraft operators from transporting persons who were either a potential or known threat to civil aviation or national security.

In November 2001, with passage of the Aviation and Transportation Security Act (ATSA), TSA assumed control of the No-Fly List. TSA compiles the No-Fly List based upon recommendations and information from Federal government intelligence and law enforcement agencies. Individuals on the No-Fly List pose, or are suspected of posing, a threat to civil aviation or national security.

For national security reasons, the No-Fly List is not available to the public. The release of such information could endanger intelligence sources

 In addition, please note that the airlines

1520.5(b)(9)(ii)

will not give a boarding pass to individuals who are on the No-Fly List.

Therefore, if you have a boarding pass, you are not on the No-Fly List.

My question relates to the information found in this paragraph, copied from your website.

Boarding Pass and Photo ID Required To Get to Your Gate

At some airports, a boarding pass and ID are required to access sterile areas. TSA is consolidating passenger screening to the passenger security checkpoints in an on-going commitment to enhance security and improve customer service. Selectee and most random searches will now be conducted at the checkpoints where TSA staff and screening equipment are concentrated. Please refer to this list for airports which require both a boarding pass and ID <http://www.tsa.gov/public/interapp/editorial/editorial_1046.xml> . Tickets and ticket confirmations (such as a travel agent or airline itineraries) will no longer be accepted at these checkpoints.

While it is easy for me to understand the benefits of not allowing weapons, knives, etc onto planes, it is not easy for me to understand this policy. The explanation above, 'TSA is consolidating passenger screening to the passenger security checkpoints in an on-going commitment to enhance security and improve customer service.' isn't specific enough for me to understand. It leads me to question why not allowing unticketed persons beyond the security checkpoints causes any safety risk at all. Since everyone would be screened for weapons, what possible harm would potentially be caused by allowance of unticketed persons access to the concourses of the airport?

My family and I would thoroughly enjoy the times we could spend walking, shopping, eating, and meeting friends at the airport. Now, we have to buy airline tickets we won't need or use just to get into the airport for a few hours.

I suspect this policy may be motivated more by money than security. If this were the case, I would be happy to pay a "security fee" i

I was detained at San Francisco International Airport on 4/29/04 as I checked in for a flight to Vancouver, Canada on Air Canada which departed SFO at 8:00am.

I was informed that my name was "similar" to one on the No Fly List. After being interrogated by 2 airline employees, their supervisor, and 2 airport police officers, they determined that I was not a security threat, but rather had the misfortune of having a "similar" sounding name to someone who is on the TSA No Fly List.

Since my Passport has a unique number attached to it, a list of passport numbers of people who are KNOWN TO NOT BE SECURITY THREATS could be maintained so that we can travel without being routinely detained.

In the name of security, the TSA needs to do more than just maintain a "NO FLY LIST" AND "SELECTEE LIST"

Dear [REDACTED] (b)(6)

Thank you for your additional comments. The "selectee" process is done randomly by the computer.

The airlines participate in a program to safeguard your travel on any scheduled passenger air carrier in the world. The security procedures are required by the United States Department of Transportation, the Federal Aviation Administration, and governmental agencies in other countries.

The use of electronic and X-ray equipment is one of the best ways to prevent the boarding of persons, who might pose a threat to a flight. In addition, other screening methods are used, which are not necessarily apparent to passengers. We do everything possible to provide safe, dependable transportation for our customers and flight crews and, will continue to look for ways to improve in this vital area.

Gentlemen:

I have had a problem whenever flying for about the last 2 years. My wife and I fly on vacation about 4 times a year, and my name pops up for extra clearance whenever we do so.

My profile is:

White male, 55 years old

U.S. Army veteran, served in Vietnam

Retired with 30 years, 15 in management, from the Ford Motor Company

Father of 3, grandfather of 3

35 year active member of the Lutheran Church in my home town

College graduate, with my thesis for a Master's Degree submitted

Member of the local American Legion and Life member of the Veteran's of Foreign War

Please advise who I should contact to discuss why I have been added to your "no fly list".

On our recent trip to Las Vegas, I was delayed for 15 minutes in Dayton, Ohio, and 30 minutes in Las Vegas, waiting for a counter agent - who were all very busy - to call a number, give them my driver's license number, and get a clearance.

Thanks for any help and direction you may be able to give.

On May 6, 2004, I was chosen as a selectee at the Hilton Head Island Airport. Every time I travel out of the Hilton Head Airport, I am selected because my husband is a Captain of UAL and we are flying on USAir, and, I have also been selected in other airports since 9/11 so I am used to the standard procedures.

On the morning of May 6 I received unusual and punitive treatment from Rose who is a TSA agent. I understand that she is part of a mobile unit. I have made a verbal report with Tom Olsen, the Hilton Head Airport Director, Stacy Philhower, TSA, and Lisa Blakunas, TSA, by phone.

Rose began with the usual wand procedure. The wand started to become unusual when she touched me in the crotch with the wand and continued to wand my legs. She then felt my legs with her hands. When she began wanding the upper torso she complained that my palms were down not up as she liked to have them placed. Then she wanded my back and decided that she needed to touch my bra straps on the shoulder and back with her hands. She then wanded me in the front and touched my bra straps in front as well as feeling the underwire around both breasts with her fingers. Both my husband, who was in his UAL Captain's uniform and the Deputy Sheriff, [REDACTED] (b)(6) (b)(7)(C) became concerned and angry watching her do this. I was so stunned that I couldn't speak. I also felt that if I said anything about her unorthodox methods it would antagonize her and she would be worse. After the personal wanding she went through my luggage. Everything I owned in my handbag and my bag was packed in clear plastic bags. Rose went through my credit cards, my wallet, my photos, my money, she had two milkshakes in unopened cartons rerun through the xray machine (saying that they were frozen, they were not). In addition, I had four objects screened for explosives.

I am an ATA flight attendant. Yesterday, May 9, I worked Flt #277 EWR-MDW. During boarding a male customer came up to me to say that someone else was assigned his same seat. When I went to the seat, a female customer had her boarding pass out and said "this is not my name". She was in possession of a boarding pass that had the man's name and of course seat number. She went through security screening and ID checks with a boarding pass and ID that did not match. The names were not even close.

This indicates to me that whom ever is supposed to be checking to see that ID and boarding pass match is not doing his/her job. It also leads me to believe that "Mary Smith " who is not on a terrorist watch list can purchase a ticket and hand it over to "Mohammed Atta" who is a terrorist. The terrorist can then just show his ID and her boarding pass and gain entry to our flights. Our first line of defense is terribly flawed.

This is not the first time I have had a customer with a boarding pass whose name was not his own.

Although there have been some improvements, I continue to believe that the increased security measures are just for show so that the traveling public "thinks" it is safe to fly. There are still ways for the "bad guys" to get us.

Sir,

I travel on a regular basis. I am writing to you with what I consider to be a procedural complaint that I have with the screening process at the Burlington Vermont Airport, Gates 1 & 2. I do not have any issues with the actual people that were involved as I know they were only following directives given to them by their management team. The staff was courteous and professional.

The past three times (in the last 6 weeks) I have been screened at the Burlington Vermont Airport I have been selected for a secondary screening. The last time was at 5:30am on 29 April 04. I did not set off the metal detector, and was not a random selectee (I asked). The reasoning provided was that I was wearing my running shoes, and according to the first line supervisor at BTV, the heel thickness of my running shoes is beyond the threshold of one inch, thereby requiring a secondary screening. In my opinion this is ridiculous. Without shoes I am 5 ft 6 1/2 in, and with these particular shoes I am 5 ft 7 in. The amount of rubber visible on the exterior of my shoe is greater than one inch, but the actual thickness of the heel is only 1/2 inch. Most running shoes produced today extend the rubber of the shoe past the actual sole for added durability and stability. I believe the BTV Screeners are going beyond the call of duty, almost to the point of harassing travelers. Nowhere else in the air travel system have I received this extra treatment, and I find it annoying.

I understand the need for transportation security and am not trying to undermine it in any way. Nor am I trying to obtain any special dispensation or "pull" at this particular airport. I am merely pointing out inconsistencies within the screening processes at airports within your control. I thought the screening process was suppose

I strongly believe that your CAPSII is doomed to the same dismal failure as CAPPSI. You guys don't get it. The only thing your rules have/will do is to further erode our personal freedoms.

There is NO consistency at our airports. Some need ID at the gate, some do not. Some airports make you take off your shoes, some do not. At Newark, your Rocket Scientists were so fascinated at my keys (which just had keys on the ring) that I stood there for 5 minutes while they discussed them. This is frightening - the level of extertise is soemwhat lacking.

If you are going to standardize, then do it, but keep your collective noses out of my personal information, which has nothing to do with security. I am a frequent flier and have seen nothing positive worth commenting on so far in your measures. At least the people at SeaTac Airport are courteous.

It would seem that any halfway professional terrorist can easily get around you feeble CAPPS procedures. Now I read that your no fly list has several people fighting to get on a plane each time they try to fly and you agency is doing little if anything to help.

One of my people had his cell and planner (with PDA) stolen at Newark and suddenly you know nothing and did not want to deal with it.

I am frustrated with my freedoms being erroded for no real return and thank you for listening to me vent. Please get some sanity in the government for a change.

Thanks you for your attention,

Thank you for your letter concerning your experience while traveling. We are sorry that you were unhappy with your recent experience.

A person may be chosen at random or flagged by a computer system known

CAPPS (Computer Assisted Passenger Prescreening System). This system was developed by the airline industry in 1997. While it does not use race, religion, or physical characteristics as criteria, what is used to flag a person is considered Sensitive Security Information, and cannot be released to the public.

Security requirements issued by the TSA establish a security minimum for adoption by air carriers and airports. Air carriers and airports may exceed those minimum standards by implementing more stringent security requirements. This prevents potential terrorists from "beating the system" by learning how it operates. Leaving out any one group, such as senior citizens or the clergy, undermine security. We simply cannot assume that all future terrorists will fit any particular profile.

Good Morning;

I was recently on a round trip flight from Jacksonville, Florida to Manila, Philippines and was stopped at the gate and screened further before boarding in Jacksonville, Florida. I was also screened at Manila. I believe that I am on your list by mistake. I am a solid US citizen with no criminal history and have never

I???d like to give you a little background info before my complaint.

Due to my traveling benefits, I travel internationally at least twice a year and I just got back from Turkey 2 days ago. [REDACTED] which [REDACTED] when I travel. I do live in the United States

At Istanbul???s airport I went through security check point and by bags went through the CTX machine like everyone else at the airport entrance. Before checking in, I was approached by two agents that I found out later that they are contracted agents from U.S. TSA in Istanbul???s Airport. When I presented my travel document, one of the agents called 2 others and I was escorted like a criminal to a room. They closed the doors and removed all of my belongings out of my suitcases and searched them 2 times for over 40 minutes. By this time I was irritated but knew that I had to go through it as a selectee pax. After they finished checking all of my bags and removing all of the batteries from all of my electronic devices (including laptop which I needed in the aircraft), I was told to go to a smaller room and told to remove my clothing! I went there shocked and waited to be searched. A lady stripped searched me and I was escorted back to the ticket counter for checking in an

Since the TSA was activated I have never had a problem with their program. Tonight was different. I flew from Seattle and my ticket was checked 4 separate times by 4 separate TSA employees. They pulled me aside to do a full search because I didn't want to take off my tennis shoes (which didn't beep). When asked why I was having extra screening and I wasn't a selectee, the agent said "just because". [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] I went through the S concourse screening on 5/13/04 at 19:20PST. I don't know the employee's name, but there were three agents I did acknowledge, and I was suprised by their lack of professionalism and poor demeanor. Why is Seattle such a difficult airport for the TSA?

I am a well dressed, 100 pound, 5'2", 69 year old, gray haired grandmother who has travelled several times since "9/11".

I have been completely searched, both personally and my baggage, on each leg of each trip and am certain that this is not a coincidence. Is my name similar to one on your watch list? I see no reason why I should be "selected" on such a regular basis.

Please don't get me wrong, I am totally in favor of the tightest security measures possible and have been for many years before 9/11. Now, I understand, the Administration is planning to cut back on the number of personnel needed to perform this function. Perhaps, since this is forthcoming, the TSA should put more efficient methods into effect rather than wasting time and manpower on the likes of me.

By the way, I was born and raised in the USA, have had a passport for more years than I can remember, own my own home, free and clear, have the highest of credit ratings, and always charge my airline tickets on American Express, well in advance of the trip..

Please explain what could possibly trigger my "selection" so regularly.

Respectfully,

I would like to file a complaint against Steven #12547 a supervisor at the Cleveland airport. After being delayed 5 hours and then subsequently cancelled on United flight 725 to Chicago-O'Hare, I was lucky enough to be rerouted on Southwest flight 2081 to Chicago-Midway. After I was ticketed on Southwest I was tagged as a selectee. That was after I had already been processed as a selectee for my United flight.

Several other passengers were selected as selectees for this Southwest flight and we had a very short window of time to make this flight. So many people showed up at security screen that a TSA agent called a supervisor over to handle this. This is when Steven arrived. I tried to explain our situation to him to which he rudely replied "that's not my problem". After that he proceeded to search my bags very slowly. It took roughly 3 times as long as my search did when I was a United selectee 4 hours earlier.

I am disappointed in the rude manner that this employee spoke to me. There were several delayed flights this evening out of Cleveland and a little understanding is all we were asking. I did not expect that your staff would disregard any rules they currently have in place regarding searches and processing. I would like a phone call at [REDACTED] with an explanation of why a supervisory official with your agency was so rude and what you plan to do about it.

To Virginia Scrotski (forgive spelling),

Last week I was delayed while obtaining a boarding pass to fly on a business trip. The agent said the commonality of my name had put me on a "No Fly List" and that I needed to contact you all for a background check, or what-have-you, to get my name removed from said list. Just let me know what I need to do. Sincerely, [REDACTED] (b)(6)

On Saturday May 8,2004, I departed DIA on Frontier flight 0083(?) to Xtapa Mexico. At check-in I was informed that my name is on a "watch list" and it took about 1/2 hour to get cleared to fly. On my return to DIA from Mexico same problem and it took longer to get clearance.

I would like to know: why my name all of sudden is on this list; how do I get it removed; and what measures should I take to assure that this will not happen in the future?

I can be reached at [REDACTED] (b)(6)

My husband and I travelled with our 2 small children last week to the Caribbean from DFW airport. When we were trying to check-in, the airline agent at US Airways informed us that we (the whole family) were on the "no fly" list for the TSA. The TSA agent then came out and asked my husband for his [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] 15205(b)(9)(11) and after waiting a little longer, he came back to us and said everything was OK and we were allowed to check in. We are concerned that every time we fly, we will have to go through the same process. We almost missed our flight last week. Can you give us any further information?

$40 lost during my search

Subject: $40 lost during my search as a 'Selectee' at RIC, 05/23/04, 6:45 - 7:00 PM

To whom it may concern,

- 1) What criteria is used to become a security gate 'selectee'?

- 2) What are my rights as a 'selectee'? Should I receive a disclosure or be presented with a chart identifying what a 'selectee' search entails and what my rights are to have another person present?

- 3) Should I be able to stand and get a better view of my pocketbook being searched?

- 4) How close should I be to my personal belongings when the search is occurring?

- 5) Do I have to let the screener remove the items from my pocketbook, or can I empty it, like a man would empty his pant or coat pockets?

- 6) Are there security cameras on the security gate, and particularly for the 'selectee' section? In other words, who's watching the screeners?

7) Who and how often are these tapes reviewed?

8) Are the screeners periodically checked as 'selectees' and they undergo an 'emptying out' of pockets, etc.?

9) Are these screeners required to undergo credit and criminal checks prior to this type of work?

10) Are the screeners allowed to wear pants with pockets? I noticed their shirts have front pockets.

The reason for all these questions is the unnerving experience I encountered after I arrived at Richmond International Airport at 6:42 PM, for a 7:15 PM US Airways flight 3140 B, 05/23/04 to New York LGA.

I was meeting two business associates, who were already waiting at boarding gate A8.

As I picked up my boarding pass from the US Airways ticket counter, my husband proceeded to the SunTrust ATM in the main section of the airport, in front of the gift shop. He withdrew $200, $100 for my business trip money (five $20 bills), and $100 for our family (five $20 bills).

The ATM is i
